

DE VALERA AND LLOYD GEORGE TO MEET

Rains Save Crops From Burning Up

THINK DE VALERA WILL MEET WITH BRITISH PREMIER

ACCEPTANCE OF INVITATION FOR CO-CONFERENCE IS LOOKED FOR.

DUBLIN HOPEFUL Irish "President" May Attach Sharp Conditions in Reply to Lloyd George.

DUBLIN.—A police sergeant and a constable were shot dead early Monday when a police patrol was ambushed in a Dublin county. A police patrol was ambushed near Dalkey, Dublin, county Mayo. The police took to cover and a fight ensued in which five armed attackers, three of whom were of the Irish Republican army, were captured and another killed. There were no police casualties. Arms, ammunition and important documents were captured by the police.

[By Associated Press.] London.—Belief that Eamon De Valera, "president" of the Irish republic, will accept Premier Lloyd George's invitation to come to London for a conference with the government and Premier Ramsay MacDonald, designed to bring about a settlement of the Irish problem, is expressed in the majority of reports reaching here from Dublin.

All reports agree Lloyd George's invitation causes a profound satisfaction in Dublin and that the question of whether or not De Valera would accept was the subject of universal speculation. Sources predicting that De Valera will accept are generally agreed that he probably will attach sharp conditions to his acceptance, some being that more binding guarantees than those contained in Lloyd George's letter must be given regarding the safe conduct of certain of his colleagues, whom De Valera may wish to accompany him.

Moderate Sinn Féin are reported anxious that De Valera accept Premier Lloyd George's invitation. It is said they can see no possibility of ending the conflict on the present conditions and that they fear a terrible result if an intensified military campaign is begun as a result of rejection of Lloyd George's overtures.

The unionist newspaper Northern Whig takes exception to Premier Lloyd George's attempt to draw a line between the Sinn Féin and the Sinn Féin. It is said that the Sinn Féin are not ready to accept the terms of the invitation and that they fear a terrible result if an intensified military campaign is begun as a result of rejection of Lloyd George's overtures.

The New Leader says: "We have no secrets when we say that this invitation is a conference is a subject to the bringing into being of the northern parliament. Ministers may meet."

The nationalistic Irish News says the idea of inviting De Valera and Premier Lloyd George to a conference at London did not occur to Lloyd George the agent and instrument of their policy of destruction in Ireland.

In event of De Valera accepting Mr. Lloyd George's invitation, it is altogether probable, the Sinn Féin prime ministers, who are invited to participate in the negotiations.

If Mr. De Valera accepts this invitation, the conflict in Ireland may be one of the most momentous in a century of British history, with the minors and their employers called to confer. Lloyd George with hope for the settlement of the Irish question presented and with the Anglo-Japanese alliance and all that it involves under consideration.

MYSTERY CLOAKS DISAPPEARANCE OF ELKHORN RESIDENT

DROWNING THEORY GIVEN UP BY FRIENDS OF LYNN WISWALL.

VANISHES FRIDAY On Way to California, Is Reported Circulated by Milwaukee Acquaintance.

[Special to the Gazette.] Elkhorn.—Mystery surrounds the disappearance of Lynn Wiswall, whose boat was found empty, floating on Lake Geneva Friday. Wiswall lived all his life in Elkhorn, has a wife and two children and was employed in a garage owned by his father, Fred Wiswall. The father Monday morning told the Gazette reporter that there had been no trouble so far as he knew and he was at a loss to account for the disappearance of his son.

Doubt is expressed as to Lynn having been drowned. When the boat was found right side up and floating, it was at first believed he had jumped overboard. On Saturday a close friend of Lynn Wiswall, who is a woman, it is alleged, to be of a woman there that she refused to go with Wiswall to California. Wiswall senior stated Monday that he had heard the story and many other rumors regarding his son's whereabouts, but refused to make any further statement. At Milwaukee, Wiswall's friend was told by the woman in question that Lynn Wiswall had been there early Saturday and that she had refused to go to California with him. He had, she is quoted as saying, said he was going to California without her.

BLAME MOONSHINE FOR AUTO CRASH

Concrete Highway Scene of Another Accident—One Is Arrested.

High voltage moonshine is again blamed by authorities for another accident on the Janesville-Beloit concrete highway, and as a result, James Buchanan, employee of the Samson Tractor company is under arrest on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Buchanan's machine collided with a car owned by L. Wallner, White-water, about 9:30 Sunday evening near Kellogg's nursery. One man, who was driving the car, was killed. Buchanan's machine was badly damaged. The latter car had to be towed to Janesville. Although there were seven people in the two cars, none was injured.

Find Bottle of "Moon." Deputy Sheriff Roy Worthington, county speed regulator, who arrived at the accident scene, discovered it happened because Buchanan appeared intoxicated and the evidence showed the four other occupants of the car had been drinking. He says a bottle of moonshine was recovered from the car. Buchanan was apparently had been thrown following the accident.

Arraigned before Judge H. L. Maxfield, Monday morning, on a charge of driving while intoxicated, Buchanan entered a plea of not guilty through his attorney W. M. Dougherty, and the case was set for July 13, upon the recommendation of District Attorney S. C. Durand. He was released without bail.

Big Crowd Gathers. According to information gathered by Deputy Sheriff Worthington, the accident occurred when Buchanan took too much of the road on his way home from Janesville. Wallner was travelling south accompanied by his daughter.

A score of cars and dozens of spectators gathered at the accident. The four in Buchanan's car were reported to be Leo Fleming, Oscar Ingelbrecht, George Olson and Pat Hogan, all of Janesville.

Sunday was a busy day for Mr. Buchanan. On the Beloit-Clinton highway, he arrested two on charges of speeding—A. R. Dahmus, Delavan, and Floyd Russell, Clinton. They were to be arraigned in municipal court at Beloit, Monday afternoon.

Predict Rail Clerks Will Reject Wage. Negative vote of the railroad clerks of Janesville on the forthcoming wage reductions which go into effect Friday will probably be taken early Monday morning, it is believed.

If such action is taken, the clerks will join hands with the maintenance of way employees here, who gave the "black ballot" to the reduction of wages.

The local of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen will probably take the same step at its meeting Thursday night at Bagdad hall.

Similar action is being taken in many cities throughout the country. The men, talk, freely of the belief that a general strike will be ordered effective early next week.

It is not so much the out of an average of $18 per month a man that the men refuse, but what they term "a return to the pre-war attitude of poverty." The men believe that if they accept the wage cuts, they will be faced with another slash within six months and perhaps a revival of the former hour schedule.

YOUTH CONFESSES ATTEMPTED FRAUD ON AUTO INSURANCE

CAR ALLEGED TO HAVE BEEN STOLEN IS RECOVERED HERE.

OWNER ARRESTED Tells Appleton Police of Effort to Defraud Firm of $800.

Beautiful dreams of Tom Radier, Big Falls, Wis., of fleeing an auto insurance company of $800 and then recovering his "stolen" Ford coupe turned out to be a bad nightmare late Saturday when Radier broke down and confessed to the police at Appleton.

He told of having abandoned the car in Janesville, June 18, with the plan of going back to Appleton to report it stolen from the streets of that city.

The car, a 1921 model, was found here late Saturday by Night Driver John Barry.

Radier, a youth of 21, is being held at Appleton on charges of fraud, according to police here.

Had $475 Mortgage. While a resident of Big Falls, young Radier bought the car from the Hayes garage at Clintonville, according to the story. In lieu of full cash payment, the garage took a chattel mortgage for $475. Radier later moved to Appleton.

Several days ago he took a trip in the machine to Chicago, Gary, Ind., and other cities in that section. On his return home he apparently ran out of fuel at Janesville. He parked his car on North High street at the rear entrance of the Grand hotel, and went on to Appleton by train. It is related.

Car Here One Week. Two days later he is alleged to have told Appleton police the car was stolen.

His confession, according to police, was to collect $800 insurance money, return to Janesville to recover his car and then pay off the chattel mortgage.

Although the car had been parked in Janesville a week, it had not been towed. Police on the Academy street beat had noticed the machine but thought it belonged to someone in the Grand hotel. It was not until a call was received Saturday from Appleton that the machine was taken to police headquarters.

C. A. Hayes, owner of the garage, came to Janesville Sunday night and drove the car back.

Wholesale Murder, Is Theory in Holocaust Fatal to 11 Persons

(By Associated Press) Mayfield, Ky.—County authorities Monday were working on the theory that Ernest Lawrence murdered 10 persons in his farm home near here Saturday night, drenched the house with oil, set it on fire and then killed himself.

Investigation has revealed, it was announced Monday, that Lawrence, following clubbing years ago, suffered from "spells" and the sheriff believes Lawrence's illness suddenly had developed into a fit of insanity, during which he wiped out his own family, the family of Otis Drew, his brother-in-law, and Drew's brother, Delmar Drew.

The charred bodies of the dead, were badly burned. One woman, however, bore what were believed to be wounds, indicating that she probably had been killed with an axe which was found near her body.

A revolver with six exploded shells, a rifle containing an empty shell and a shotgun also were found in the ruins.

WOMAN, 30, FOUND DEAD BY FIREMEN

Coroner's Jury Says Mrs. Burrow Died of Effects of Frigate.

Escaping gas, intense heat, fire and excitement combined to cause sudden death Saturday afternoon of Mrs. Charles H. Burrow, 117 South Jackson street, in the opinion of a six-man coroner's jury which heard testimony at an inquest Monday morning.

Mrs. Burrow, 30 years of age, had suffered for months with rheumatism, and her heart was such that it failed as a result of excitement, in the opinion of the jurors. The suicide theory, advanced when she was found lying in her bedroom with a gas jet wide open, was abandoned.

Neighbors, noting smoke coming from the Burrow home, called the fire department at 3:30 p. m. Saturday. After breaking open a screen door and going to the second floor, firemen entered the front room to be faced by a blaze, intense heat and a strong smell of gas. Mrs. Burrow was found lying on the bed face down.

Langmuir Is Called. She was carried downstairs by Capt. Fred Jungblut and fireman Frank Murphy and taken to the coroner's office. The coroner's jury heard testimony from the firemen and the coroner.

The blaze originated, it is believed, when the pilot light on a gas fixture in the room ignited gas escaping from an open jet, just a few inches away. The gas, which probably was a result of gas being turned on in winter time, was wide open, according to testimony of fireman, James Shortney, who thrust it out. How it happened to be open was not clear.

The theory is that it had been turned accidentally, while attempts were being made to turn on the light. The key turned easily at the slightest touch.

Blaze Is Extinguished. Although the woman had been suffering with rheumatism, the jury was not such as to lead to the suicide belief, it was held.

The fire was extinguished in quick time. The blaze had spread from the gas jet to the west wall where it burned a large hole and spread up through the plaster and outer wall.

County Coroner Lynn A. Whaley made a thorough investigation of the death and returned a verdict of death by gas poisoning.

For the inquest, including several neighbors and others who happened to be at the home immediately following the discovery of the body and the finding of the body, the witnesses were: Frank Jungblut, James Shortney, Fred Jungblut, Peter Wyszowski, Ella Drummond, Mrs. K. D. Shaw, O. M. Roscoe, Philip R. Egan, Charles Hawk and Miss Luella Hawk.

The coroner's jury was composed of George Olin, Ben Smith, Walter Rice, J. W. Tuite, George Neunig, and J. W. Murphy. Constable Frank Egan was in charge of the jury. Thirty attended the inquest.

Was From Amboy, Ill. The technical decision of the jury was that she "died from embolism, embolism due to acute thromboembolism, natural causes."

The latter part being the excitement of the fire, heat, etc.

Mrs. Burrow, formerly Miss Estelle Antoine was born in Amboy, Ill. June 17, 1891. She is survived by her husband, Charles Burrow, employed in Ames Rebers Co. store, a 6-year old daughter, Marjorie, both of Janesville, and her parents and a sister of Amboy, Ill.

Ball Pools Threaten to Corrupt Game; Sold Here

Announcement the other day by Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high chief in command of organized baseball, that the well-known ball pool must go, if the game is to be kept free from contamination, shot terror at the hearts of many a cigar store, pool room, restaurant or other place where those lotteries are commonly sold. On the other hand the statement awakened a surprise in many a peace-loving citizen who learned for the first time that this practice has become dangerous.

Starting years ago merely as little games of chance taken up by several club members as a past-time, the baseball pool has grown so that now it is estimated to be doing a business of more than $20,000,000 a year in the United States. This vast business is done during the 26 weeks of the major league baseball season.

Spreads Most Rapidly.—The menace that Judge Landis sees in the form of gambling comes from the fact that after a momentary scare the operators of the scheme have tossed it off as a joke and never even stopped to think of the racket. Gambling in baseball pools is spreading to a malarial extent. From the ranks of the young men who form the habit of gambling on baseball by buying tickets that will come the most will corrupt the game and cause the scandals of the future.

This is extremely significant at this time when the national pastime will draw fewer from the college ranks next year than ever before. The college players, from whom some of the best talent is drawn, are being lured away by the prospect of easy money. The fact that the scandal of 1919 has not yet been fully cleared. They are helped in their belief by the fact that these

"HOT ENOUGH TO FRY EGGS" IS NO JOKE AT CAPITAL.

Washington, D. C. — "You win, John!" gasped a representative of the U. S. Senate of Oklahoma, as he mopped his brow and lost a wager to Congressman John W. Langley of Kentucky.

Langley bet that it was hot enough to fry eggs on the steps of the capitol. Pringley said it could not be done.

Langley obtained a pair of eggs started his culinary task. The fry was slow but when Langley flipped the eggs over and spoiled a "sunny side up," Pringley admitted he had lost.

MAKERS OF BABY CARRIAGES LOOK FOR MANY BIRTHS

Manufacturers are urging furniture stores to stock up heavily with baby carriages in anticipation of an unusually high birth-rate this year. Local stores have received advice to this effect.

"All available statistics indicate a record-breaking birth-rate this year," says one company. "The actual number of births will be very close to 3,900,000. Dealers who anticipate their baby carriage requirements will be the ones to profit by this condition."

Gilson C. Glasier, Madison was re-elected secretary and treasurer and Arthur McLeod, was again chosen as assistant secretary. Dean H. S. Bichard, Madison was re-elected chairman of the legal educational committee and John P. Thompson, Oskosh, chairman of the judicial committee.

Gasoline Price Drops 2 Cents At All Stations

Melting costs took a tumble in Janesville over the week end when all oil companies here announced reductions in the price of gasoline and kerosene. "Gas" dropped two cents.

Standard high run test was quoted by the Boner company at 23 cents. Wadham's gasoline was quoted at 24.6 cents a gallon and kerosene was reduced 1.7 cents a gallon.

Gasoline was quoted at the Standard Oil service station for 20.5 and on the tank wagons for 19.5 for 55-60-gallon. The 60-62 gasoline sells for 21.5 at the Standard oil stations. Kerosene was quoted at 9 and 9-10 cents.

Lubricating oils are three cents a gallon lower on an average, said the agents at the Standard Oil agency here.

Additional drops are expected, even though the gasoline prices are now considered reasonable. Crude oil has suffered bad slumps in the open market.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

Now It Costs $1635

Even before the price reduction on June 7th, our five-passenger "Glenbrook" model was conceded to be the greatest dollar-for-dollar value of all light six motor cars.

Now—with the price reduced to $1635—it must be evident that opportunity is knocking at the door of every man who knows an unusual investment when he sees it.

The new price is amazingly low. It will appear absurd after you have had one ride behind the motor that accelerates from five to twenty-five miles per hour in nine seconds flat.

And remember, please, the "Glenbrook" is a distinctly new product—not an old model repainted and re-christened with a 1921 label. It is a splendid investment now and will be a splendid investment one year from now.

Rock County Leads State in Treatment of Soils
Rocky county now leads Wisconsin in the use of lime to correct soil acidity and also the county is forging ahead in the use of other methods of enriching the soils.
Six limestone crushers have been at work all season crushing the natural lime rock hauled from the pits and put on the surface of the soils. As a direct result the county is certain to increase her acreage in alfalfa and legume crops.
Grow More Alfalfa.
More than 500 samples were tested in this one township.
Grow More Alfalfa.
Together with these soils tests are the demonstrations. The difference between limed and unlimed soils is shown in a practical manner. Producers can see where crops failed to yield without lime and where heavy stands were obtained where lime and other chemicals were used. It is estimated that Rock county will use more than 2,000 tons of lime in a month. Through the Farm Bureau the farmers have gone into the use of lime in an efficient way. It is estimated that they have determined that it pays. Lime costs Rock county farmers but $2 a ton for the Farm Bureau owns and operates the crushers or has them under contract.
The school children took soil samples from each 40 acres to place with the farmer's name and the location of his farm. Wherever possible, the samples were taken from a field where alfalfa or clover was to be sown.
The sacks were then sent to the state soils laboratory at Madison or the office of the county agent to be tested for lime needs. While the novel campaign was carried on primarily to allow a better acquaintance with the soils of the farms, it increased the interest of the youths in the agriculture development of their district.

Abandon Church Differences, Is Scribner's Idea
"This union service shows we do not place emphasis on denominational differences we once did," said Rev. Frank J. Scribner, speaking before an audience made up of Baptist, Presbyterian and Congregational church members at the Sunday morning service in the Congregational church. "If we place ourselves under the influence of Christ, we can think differently, but we can love, serve and work together."
Speaking on the text, "For He is our peace, and He will break down the wall," he declared the wall of difference between the churches is crumbling at the time the interchurch movement was agitated, but there had come a reaction even during the rebulid. There was a man in the pulpit who talked about the colleges and pulpits, and to eliminate those who did not subscribe to old doctrines of theology, he said. An effort has been made to divide up again the mission fields, even though they had been united for more effective work, he pointed out.
He emphasized that contact with the teachings of Christ should bring about a peace between these warring factions, and break down the walls arising between them, so that they could work freely with together.
There are too many churches in the country, and too many resident ministers, and dependent transient pastors, he said, and if they could drop their small differences and unite several of them into strong church groups they might be able to cover the field much more effectively.
Where there is only room for one church then have one," he advised. "With the wall between church people gone, they can go on together, loving and serving him."
When we come to love Christ, more than we love our own way, then we will have peace between each other, between capital and labor, and between nations of the earth."
A quartet choir led the singing, and Mrs. Roy Packer sang a solo.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT WHEN AUTO HITS FENCE
Orfordville—A serious accident occurred Saturday morning when a motorcycle in which Mr. and Mrs. Schmale and their daughter, Edith, were riding, ran into a wire fence near the Gus Bohling farm, on the Hanover road. Mrs. Schmale and the little girl were in the side car. The motorcycle was in the road at this point, which Mr. Schmale failed to notice, and instead of making the turn he ran into the barbed wire fence. Mrs. Schmale had the entire left side of her face, including the ear and a part of the scalp, torn loose, and her jaw fractured. Dr. G. W. Deling, after administering first aid, hurried the suffering woman to the Deloit hospital, where she was made as comfortable as possible. Neither of the other occupants of the car was seriously injured. The car was badly wrecked.
A miscellaneous shower was given Bertha Liston Spragstad at the parlors of the Lutheran church Friday afternoon. She received many useful and beautiful presents. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stone Liston and was recently married to Hubert Spragstad, Brodhead. Mrs. Spragstad, Springfield, Minn., is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. O. Trosten, having arrived in Orfordville Saturday morning. Ball fans attended the games at Janesville and Beloit Saturday.

PLAN VOCATIONAL SCHOOL FOR YANKS
Training for Disabled War Veterans to Start This Summer in Omaha.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Omaha, June 26.—Preparations for the establishment here of a vocational training school for disabled soldiers, sailors and marines from Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas and Missouri, are under way. The school will be opened July 15, at the latest, at Bellevue college. It will have a capacity of 300 students.
A corps of 20 teachers, headed by Prof. Sharrow, who has been head of the federal board of vocational training at Colorado Springs, Colo., will be in charge. The students will be men who have been suffering from tuberculosis, but who have improved sufficiently to be discharged from hospitals in the four states.
Instruction will include agriculture, such as poultry raising, gardening and bee-keeping, manual training, carpenter work, iron work, shoe repairing, tailoring, practical electricity, mechanical drawing and academic and commercial courses.
In the main, the work will be vocational, according to E. H. Dunaway, training center supervisor for District No. 2, with headquarters in St. Louis.
"The purpose of this school will be to get the men who are in prime physical condition in shape so that they can stand a full day's training," Mr. Dunaway said.

ENGINEER FINDS CITY HAS EXCELLENT RAILROAD FACILITIES
Studying the railroad facilities and connections here, E. M. Paige, industrial engineer, Friday inspected the yards and approaches here. Saturday he spent analyzing blue prints of the trucking advantages. The data procured in this manner will be used in a survey on Janesville's industrial advantages to be put out by the local Chamber of Commerce.
Mr. Paige considers that the railroad facilities of Janesville are exceptional and that the location of the city should make it attractive in drawing new industries here.
"Your city is quite lively," he stated Saturday, "and this is an excellent advantage for its growth."

Milk Testing Grows in Popularity as Buyers Demand Best in Cattle

Records of production are the credentials required by cattle buyers in and outside of Wisconsin. Butcher fat and tuberculin tested cattle are what Rock county needs for the development of her dairy herds.

All discriminating purchasers are little attracted, no matter what the price, by breeding stock of uncertain value and unknown ability.

The market now demands production records and farmers who have surplus stock to sell are more and more asking for tuberculin tested Jefferson County Cattle.

Such advice comes from R. T. Harris, supervisor of dairy tests for Wisconsin. There are 40 state cow testers at work in 40 counties of the state. This is a 30 percent increase over last year.

Jefferson county leads the state in the seven day tests having 13 breeders who test cows on test. Dairy cattle are highly developed in this county and it is for such development and better that Rock county should strive in her program of agriculture development. Jefferson county breeders have made it pay and pay well. The tests are made on all prominent breeds of cattle.

When the farmer gets ready to buy, the wheels are going to move. In a town where the wheels are going to move and that means money, hard cash to the man who consumes and buys farm produce.

Oppose Two Prices.

In regard to the Chicago marketing company, milk producers in Rock county will protest and protest firmly against a lower price for their milk. Rock, Jefferson, Green and Walworth county farmers are the best in the corn-belt district. The dairy interest in these counties is higher developed and with more money invested than around Chicago, where farmers would come in under the proposed fluid milk price system.

Stock was bought by the producers under the agreement prices would be uniform. Any attempt to divide the district will be bitterly contested for the Rock county producers know that they can load the Chicago market with their milk and they are not going to be the main idea among Rock county dairy men now is to increase the consumption of fluid milk in their own local market district.

Washington.—A total of $226,486.80 has been disbursed by the government in settlement of compensation claims for war risk insurance.

Washington.—Prohibition leaders asserted they were certain of the passage of the "Willie Campbell anti-beer bill."

Washington.—Prices of farm crops advanced during May from the general level of prices obtained since June, 1920, said a report of the department of agriculture's bureau of crop estimates.

Washington.—Warning of a coal famine and an assertion that national organizations in the coal industry have united in "one big trust" was issued by Senator Trevelyan, New Jersey.

Washington.—There were 2,930,000 more males than females in the United States in 1920, the census bureau announced.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Smiley spent the week-end at the Deloit of Wisconsin, motoring to Kibbourn and return.

Experience begets wisdom—but usually late in the game to be of any value.

End Daring Strike.

It is a mistaken idea that farmers should hold off buying forever. What logic there is to a buying strike cannot be determined, from any angle or by any bankers.

That sums up the market price question. A farmer goes into a shoe store and finds high quality shoes priced at more than $10, while he is not taking the effort to skin an animal because he cannot sell a high price for his tobacco. Growers wonder why tobacco prices don't tumble when they only get eight cents a pound for their crops.

Wisconsin has not diminished perceptibly in its purchasing power for the one reason she had cash for her dairy products. This fact is contended by all bankers.

It is a mistaken idea that farmers should hold off buying forever. What logic there is to a buying strike cannot be determined, from any angle or by any bankers.

U. W. Student Drowns in Green Lake

Green Lake.—David Roberts, Chicago student at the University of Wisconsin, was drowned here Saturday while swimming. Following a dive off a sailboat, a wind came up, carrying the boat away so that he became exhausted before reaching it. It is believed his heart was affected.

Young Roberts, with 30 others of the Sigma Phi fraternity, was attending a week-end picnic at Green Lake. He had just become engaged to be married a few hours before and his fiancée was in the sailboat at the time of his death. Sidney Elks, Janesville, was among those in the party.

ELECTION OF GOMPERS AND A SANE CONVENTION.

No convention of the American Federation of Labor, the largest and most important organization of men in trades in the world, has been of greater significance, judging from results, than the one just closed at Denver. There has been no swerving from the purpose of the Federation to fight the open shop or to surrender any of the principles of the unions, but there has been refusal to accept any of the frills of the radicals or to place the organization in the position of an enemy of the republic or to wander away after strange gods of the Russian kind. The fight against Samuel Gompers was made because he has been a consistent opponent of the recognition of the soviet and the bolsheviks. He has also opposed the participation of the Federation in the conferences of the Third Internationale and the workmen's organizations of Europe. In resolutions passed in spite of the fight made by the minority radical element, the proletarian movement headed by Lenin and Trotsky does not receive the support of the American body.

Having won this fight and earlier in the session a victory in opposition to establishment of a boycott in favor of the Irish cause but supporting a resolution of sympathy with the revolutionists there; also having been supported by the convention in the defeat of the resolution calling for the nationalization of "all industries organized under corporate grants and privileges," it was only proper that Mr. Gompers should succeed to the presidency. Under the nationalization resolution all incorporate companies were to be placed under government control and ownership. The first voice to be raised in protest was the teaming and trucking interests. Then it received a blow from sea and waterway interests—men who sailed vessels and were in companies owning steamboats. The result was the overwhelming defeat of the movement.

As a final and a complete defeat of the radical and revolutionary element Mr. Gompers was elected president. His election means that destructive methods will not be used in the settlement of labor matters nor will there be a wider chasm between employer and employee. Instead the election is of the highest importance for organized labor and for industrial conditions. That we cannot have good business conditions until there is greater employment of workmen everywhere, is a proposition so plain that no one will disagree. To this end organized labor and unorganized labor, capital in industry and out of industry, agriculture and manufacturing should join. The Federation having refused to go into the proletarian revolution is in a stronger position than ever to bring about constructive results.

No wonder Pres. Harding likes his dog; he hasn't asked for an office or made a speech yet.

PROHIBITION AND SOCIAL WELFARE.

Prof. J. L. Gillen of the University of Wisconsin, submitted figures to the convention of Social Welfare workers at Milwaukee, which are rather disconcerting to those who have been repeating so often that they believe it, that prohibition has not been effective. The decrease in prison populations is marked in almost every state in the union; even in Western Pennsylvania where thousands of gallons of whiskey have been released from the distilleries "for medicinal purposes."

Indiana state prison has reduced its daily number from 1,200 to 900. Women criminals for petty offenses and for drunkenness have fallen 30 per cent and in the reformatory there has been a drop of 60 per cent. All prison populations except in a few instances have decreased in spite of the "crime wave" so general over the country—a "wave" not in any way instigated by prohibition. These facts are encouraging to the friends of enforcement of law.

COMMON LABOR HARD HIT.

One of the serious results of the business depression is the falling off in the demand for common labor in Wisconsin. From the employment offices the showing is of a loss of 56 per cent in placements for the month of May. More women have been given places than ever before, the increase being 800 per cent. But the crying need at this time is the need of stimulated operation of industries. In the farm line labor has been in good demand and placements on farms have been more than twice what they have been for industries. The serious thing about the whole industrial situation is the condition in which labor

The Problem of Personal Armament

Washington, D. C.—A certain bank, alarmed by the large number of successful bank robberies in this country recently, has supplied all of its employees with automatic pistols, set up a target range in its basement, and made pistol practice a regular institution. One of its woman clerks has attained an expert proficiency in a short time.

This bank is one of many organizations that have taken the protection of their property into their own hands, as it has become more and more clear that most of the American police systems are not equal to the task. The United States government is one of these organizations. The Post Office department especially has invested heavily in automatic shotguns and pistols and has made target practice a part of its routine.

For organizations to prepare to defend their property in this way seems to be generally considered a wise and justifiable move, but there is a strong movement on foot to deny the same right to the citizen. Everywhere "gun toting" laws are being discussed, and the movement to legislate guns out of existence seems to have reached its climax in the federal measure which proposes to bar small arms from interstate commerce.

This measure, which was discussed in a previous Haskin trial, would have the effect of making it extremely difficult for a reputable citizen to purchase a pistol for self defense without breaching the law, and it would also make such arms much more expensive. The theory is that it would make it equally difficult for the criminal to arm himself.

Opponents of this law assert that it would accomplish just the opposite of its intention. They say that the yegg or gunman, who finds a gun indispensable to his business, would always manage to get one by hook or crook, just as he now manages to get opium, liquor, opium, and other contraband goods. It is the reputable citizen, eager to obey the law, who would be disarmed. The criminals would be given a monopoly of armament.

The constitutionality of this law also has been questioned, as the constitution provides that "the right of the people to keep and bears arms shall not be infringed."

Opponents of pistol prohibition now bring up a substitute, which is not new, but has a special appeal at this time. When Mayor Gaynor was shot by an assassin a few years ago, Judge George C. Holt made an able address on the subject of arms, and the right to carry them. He discussed the advisability of pistol-prohibition and decided that it was impracticable. He advised that instead a law should be passed which would place the selling of small arms in the control of competent boards everywhere.

Under such a system, if you desired to own a weapon you would appear before the board and apply for a license. The same as you do when you want to operate a motor car. You would have to demonstrate that you knew how to operate the gun. You would very likely undergo a brief physical examination and would have to prove that you had no criminal record and were sane. By the signatures of reputable persons you would establish your own responsibility.

It is argued that such a law would do just as much to keep interstate trade in arms. That is, it would prevent a criminal from going into a reputable store and purchasing such an arm. It would be impossible to buy an arm from a reputable store and purchasing such an arm. It would be impossible to buy an arm from a reputable dealer without presenting a license from the board. Storekeepers would enjoy this law particularly, as they obey any law regulating the sale of firearms, because they have everything to lose and nothing to gain by disobedience. In either case, the yegg would have to go to the gun bootlegger for his gun, and in either case, it is all probably, the same old story.

This licensing law would have the great advantage, it is claimed, that it would enable the responsible citizen, who knows how to use a gun, to get one for self-defense. It would not give all the advantage to the criminal, as would the gun prohibition, say the critics of that measure. Furthermore, the licensing system would tend to reduce the great number of weapons which are now purchased by persons who do not know how to use them, and who cause most of the numerous accidents that occur in the use of small arms.

The proponents of this licensing system say that the object of laws on the use of small arms should not be to abolish their use. This is neither practicable nor desirable. The object should be to confine their use to persons who are capable of using them with discretion. This has scarcely been attempted in the United States.

In a large part of the country, the civilian population has been completely disarmed. In the northeastern quarter of the United States, it is extremely rare to find a man with a gun about him, unless he is either a criminal or a police officer. The result is that any man armed with a brick in a rock can be a successful robber. Crimes are carried out with an ease and impunity too well known to need illustration here. Foreign feudists fight out their battles in the streets of our great cities, usually shooting a few bystanders incidentally and these are as helpless as so many sheep.

In certain southern and western states, a different custom prevails. Almost every man, and indeed every boy past 17, carries a revolver. These arms may be purchased by any one at low prices in pawnshops. In these states, the old custom of settling personal differences by personal combat still survives. But petty crime does not flourish. The sneak thief and the sandbag man are almost unknown. Where every man has a gun in his pocket, a life of crime is apt to be short and exciting.

Manifestly, it is argued, what we need is a compromise between these two conditions. If responsible citizens were licensed to carry arms and the licenses were revoked at the first instance of reckless or improper use of them, perhaps some of the evils of gun-toting would be eliminated without denying to Americans that right to bear arms which the fathers sought to protect in the constitution.

And as to employment. We, here in Wisconsin, have little conception of what is going on in the great industrial centers and how much suffering there is among the laboring people. We do get a jolt once in a while, however, when the figures like these as to employment in the state, are presented.

What's that? The "Microbe Review," of Paris the nickname of the publication of the Pasteur Institute, periodical, says that tobacco smoke will kill the germs of cholera, diphtheria, and cerebrospinal meningitis. Perhaps that is why so many of the ladies have taken to smoking—to keep off this meningitis then.

Rochester, N. Y.—To build a new apartment house to house 169 families, at a cost of $2,225,000. There are to be shops and stores and everything within the block will be complete. Work will be started at once and the structure be completed this year. It is an indication of a revival of building and of one city meeting a situation.

While it may be wished by many that the M'sieu Carpenter will win the July 2 advance on the Dempsey line, it is a fact that M'sieu is unacquainted with the kick of a mule to which he will be introduced at that time.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.
GOOD NIGHT.
How many times we've said good night
And kissed her as we turned away,
Knowing that with the morning light
She'd greet the beauty of the day.

And tucked her gently from her room,
And when the sun "good night" was said
The parting brought no touch of gloom.

She would be there when we should rise
To greet us with her lovely smile,
The sunbeams dancing on her face,
And night seemed such a little while.

Here spirit, till the break of day,
Would leave this little world of ours
For brighter realms whither to play
Where fairies danced among the flowers.

Sometimes we watched her as she dreamed
And knew that she was far from care,
And always lovelier she seemed
When morning found her smiling there.

"Good night, good night! sweet Marjorie!"
We will be with you with you away,
Some glad tomorrow there shall be,
We'll come to you at break of day.

One of the mysteries of this life is that the less material they put into a woman's dress, the more it costs.

Is civilization slipping? Very few murders reported the past few days.

Bryan has traveled 600,000 miles in twenty-five years and hasn't got much of anywhere yet.

It is pleasant to know, of course, that George Carp has got into society, but in spite of that, there will be a prizefight on July 2 just as planned.

Who's Who Today

CHARLES G. DAWES.
Charles G. Dawes, the man who stocked congress with his emphatic language, has been named director of the new federal budget system by President Harding. The president believes that Dawes, a man of the highest caliber, is the best man for the job. Dawes, who is chairman of the Central Trust Company of Chicago, former controller of the currency, and former brigadier general in charge of purchases with the American expeditionary forces, has been keenly interested in governmental economy and is certain to make the new federal office one of commanding importance.

Dawes was born at Marietta, O., August 27, 1855. He studied at Marietta college and the University of Cincinnati, receiving degrees at both institutions, and was admitted to the practice of law in 1882. From 1887 to 1894 he practiced law in Lincoln, Neb. Since then he has been interested in the gas business at Evanston, Ill., La Crosse, Wis., Seattle and other points.

He was controller of currency from 1897 to 1902. He was made a brigadier general of the engineers in the national army on June 17, 1917, and rose to the rank of brigadier general by October, 1918. He arrived in France July 17, 1917, as a lieutenant colonel in the railway engineers.

Named on Pershing's Staff.
His executive ability caused his appointment in September, 1917, to the administrative staff of the commander in chief of the general staff, and he was named to the general staff of the army. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal by the U. S. the Order of Leopold by Belgium and the Legion d'Honneur by France.

He has been president of the Central Trust Company of Chicago since 1922.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS

Not All Newspapers in New York.
Through the courtesy of the editor, Stephen Bolles, the Bystander has received a copy of the "Housewarming Edition" of the Janesville, Wis. Gazette. New Yorkers are often charged with being provincial, and they are to the extent of not knowing what is going on in the rest of the universe. Often they do not know that any newspaper, except the Commercial Appeal and the Evening Post, is published in New York City. The size of some of the newspapers of the West would, therefore, surprise them. As to quality—well, not all the brains are in New York. The "Housewarming Edition" of the Janesville, Wis. Gazette, published in the "Housewarming Edition" with the comment "who in 1883 purchased the controlling interest in the Gazette Printing Co., and to whose optimism and faith coupled with great effort the present high position of the Gazette is due." He died in 1913. The present publisher is H. H. Bliss. Portraits are published of 80 members of the staff, not counting "newsies," which in itself indicates that the Gazette is some paper, and has been used by the city of Janesville for the past 24-page housewarming edition is printed and the substantial brick and stone building which is its home. Congratulations—Long Island Daily Press, of Jamaica, New York.

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO

It was decided to locate it in the agricultural rooms of the county house.

THIRTY-ONE YEARS AGO
June 27, 1890.—William Kastner, 19, was drowned in Rock river near Monterey this morning. He did not know how to swim and the river is gradually becoming a "place." Nine girls compose the graduating class of the high school, commencement exercises being held today in the Congregational church.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
June 27, 1901.—Over $3,000 was realized on the building that have stood on the site for the new library on South Main street at an auction this morning. J. M. Bostwick and sons bought two of the buildings at a low figure and J. J. Cunningham bought the building that has been used by Dr. Woods who owned the property as a residence. The land cost the library board $20,000.

TEN YEARS AGO
June 27, 1911.—The coroner's jury in the Hinkle murder, which occurred last week ago, brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree against Louis Kuller. His trial will come up in the Circuit court in October.—The Janesville Traction company will straighten their road beds and lay new trucks in the city this summer.

AUTODOXYGRAPHY
CHAPTER 15—ON VOTING DRY
There may be some excuse for young ones voting with the wet until they are old enough to have a little sense, from two to three years old. After that, certainly every well conducted household will be dry all night. Bed-wetting is not "kidney trouble," as unenlightened grandmothers say. It is a disease. It is a habit. But it is utterly cruel and it only makes matters worse for parents to "scold, ridicule or punish" a child whose heredity, environment and habits have conspired to maintain the bed-wetting habit beyond the normal duration—beyond the second or third year. It is very rare, however, that a child who wets the bed has bad training, as a rule. That is, the parents have no knowledge of or regard for the importance of regularity of the baby. Ignorance and neglect of these important influences are accountable for most cases of thumb-sucking, nail-biting and other bad habits of children. Bed-wetters are up too late nights. One health rule many parents never learn, apparently, is that there is no excuse for keeping a child less than six years old up after 7 o'clock at night, for up to that time nothing less than 12 hours of sleep will keep the child healthy and strong in mind and body. Bed-wetting is primarily due to nerve-muscular fatigue. That explains why it sometimes follows illness or injury. The child is utterly exhausted at night and sleeps more deeply than normal, so that it is difficult to awake at 10 p. m. to empty the bladder, as should invariably be done in bed-wetting cases. The diet may include meat, eggs, milk, butter, fresh fish, cooked cereals, bread, macaroni, vegetables, unseasoned deserts, oranges, and stewed fruits. It is usually best to exclude cream, bananas, raw apples, and other articles must be absolutely forbidden: tea, coffee, cocoa, condiments and hot vinegar, beer or any other alcoholic concoction (including various neustums which are practically disguised alcoholic beverages). No meat, fish, or eggs for supper. No food or drink at all after 6 p. m. The child should be put to bed at 8 p. m. and all the water the child wishes through the day, with or without meals.

No play other than quiet amusement after supper.

The important part of the management is an uncompromising schedule.

In addition 1 per cent suffered from pronated feet, a trouble similar to flat feet. The combination is a total of 11.07 per cent.

Carver's Rock Is Boomed as County Park

Have Rock county buy the property at Carver's rock in the town of Bradford as a memorial public park.

This is being advocated to members of the Rock county board to secure a strip of land which is considered to be the most scenic spot in Rock county. For a distance of a quarter of a mile there are rock formations along a creek tributary to Turtle creek, which are considered marvelous. On a small scale Carver's rock is typical of rock carvings at the Wisconsin Dells.

Excursion travel to the spot daily for quiet picnics and rest.

Through the generosity of the owner the place is now free to the public. Persons who have visited the rock and marveled at the formations and rocks, generally are in favor of establishing the place as a park. Only a narrow strip of land is needed, which is totally untroubled for agriculture because of the hills and the rock formations.

The place is easily reached by highways from both Janesville and Beloit. It is estimated that the county would not be to buy more than 40 acres and to obtain full rights for all time to establish a public park.

CONGRESS TANGLED DOING NOTHING

Dangerous Delay to Administration Program Continues.

By DAVID LAWRENCE.
Copyright 1921, by Janesville Gazette.
Washington.—President Harding has found it necessary to apply the executive accelerator to congress. He has been reluctant to follow in the footsteps of other presidents who drove congress with a firm hand, and he has resented the suggestion that he should dictate to both houses. But after a lapse of two months and a half, it has become apparent that the executive accelerator is not going to get congress out of its rut. The session of congress will be fruitless unless the executive forgets his place and lets congress do its own thing.

functions of the executive and legislative branches of the government and accept the role of party leader which made it possible for President Roosevelt to get congress to pass the tariff revision act. President Harding, on the other hand, has been reluctant to do this, and he has been reluctant to do this, and he has been reluctant to do this.

The situation today is strikingly parallel to that which existed a few months after Mr. Taft was inaugurated. Congress was then led by Messrs. Aldrich and Cannon, who were known as the "big game" hunters. They were not only hunters, but they were also politicians. They were not only hunters, but they were also politicians. They were not only hunters, but they were also politicians.

So tangled has the situation become that the republicans, who for years have been the dominant force in congress, are now in a position where they are unable to do anything. They are unable to do anything. They are unable to do anything. They are unable to do anything. They are unable to do anything.

Dangerous Situation
Thus the situation is drifting without tangible results. Mr. Harding has about decided to do a little thing, first with a gentle hand, and later with a firmer application of executive pressure if necessary. He is now in a position where he is unable to do anything. He is unable to do anything. He is unable to do anything. He is unable to do anything.

House More Responsive
Thus far the house has proved itself to be more responsive to popular feeling than the senate. By slashing military and naval appropriations considerable money has been saved which a generous senate would have been loath to appropriate. There is an undercurrent of sentiment, however, in both houses that if some progress had been made on international disarmament there might have been an even greater economy. Disarmament talk is no longer regarded as the mutterings of a few pacifists, but is seriously looked upon as a matter of dollars and cents and taxes.

Neither Tax nor Tariff.
But while both houses have been struggling with the appropriation bills—which is after all the routine work of congress—the tariff and tax bills have been completely ignored. The tariff and tax bills have been completely ignored. The tariff and tax bills have been completely ignored. The tariff and tax bills have been completely ignored.

Wrangle Over Tariff
Many conflicting interests have shown a decided tendency to wrangle over the tariff, but the controversies thus far over the tariff are not a circumstance compared to the trouble which is anticipated in passing a new tax bill. The chief executive alone will be able to reconcile differences of opinion. And he will have to do it largely by executive insistence on compromise which would otherwise be refused if offered by congressional leaders. In other words, congress needs executive guidance, and Mr. Harding has made up his mind to fill the need.

200 LEARN HOW TO CULL OUT CHICKENS

Interest High in Move to Get Rid of Non-Productive.

Successful chicken culling demonstrations were held Friday by R. T. Giassco, county agent and J. B. Hayes, poultry expert from the college of agriculture. Additional demonstrations will be held next Wednesday on three farms.

The university poultry expert cull the flocks at the farms of A. C. Rheinhammer, Plymouth township, August Sorrow, Canton, and Wilbur Andrew, Magnolia. More than 200 farmers and wives attended. The chickens were culled by four methods. Mr. Hayes takes into consideration the yellow color of the beak and legs. If a hen has considerable light left at this time, the fowl is considered a non-producer. The early moulting was discarded because they were not laying.

The use of one ounce of sodium fluoride to a gallon of water was recommended as a dip for lice. This painting of the roosts with carbolic was urged to rid the poultry houses of mites. At one of the farms methods of canning chickens was shown.

Text Wednesday there are to be culling tests at the farm of J. M. Leary, south of Evansville, at 10 a. m., at the farm of Byron E. Coon at 2 p. m., and 4 p. m. on the farm of W. B. Austin, Johnston.

Women who take charge of the poultry on the farms are showing special interest in the demonstrations.

Artificial Ice Plant Proposed

Consideration of the establishment here of an artificial-ice plant was taken up at a meeting of the newly appointed industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce Friday. James B. Dick, Chicago, is desirous of starting such a factory. The matter is being taken up with local ice concerns to learn if they care to enter into such a project. Start Atwood of the City Ice company declares if he finds sufficient demand here for better ice, of an artificial nature, he is ready to enter into such a project.

The meeting was the first of the new industrial committee of which R. S. Lejoy is chairman. The other members are Charles Muggleston and Roy Wisner.

Many G. M. C. Bonus Checks Received Here

Award of the General Motors corporation bonus checks is being made among employees at the Samson Tractor company plants in Janesville this week. The G. M. C. is awarding 6,577 of its employees with 2,322 shares of the seven per cent debenture stock and 127,555 shares of the common stock.

This is a bonus for the calendar year ending December 31, 1920. The bonus plan was adopted by the corporation along with the Savings and Investment system as a solution of the problem of how employees can be induced to remain with the company for at least a period of five years. The stock profit sharing system is given in recognition of meritorious service and is also given for inventions, ability, industry, service and loyalty among employees.

Employees by the operation of the plan, are made partners and part owners in the business and thereby encouraged to further efforts and initiative. It is the intention of the corporation under Pierre S. du Pont to continue the plan year after year. The annual awards under the bonus plan are held in trust for the employee for a period of five years but during the time dividends are paid direct to the employee.

The corporation each year after deducting from its earnings six per cent on the capital employed in the business, sets aside ten per cent of the remaining net earnings which is placed in the bonus fund. In three years the bonus fund has amounted to more than $12,000,000.

CITY BAND TO HAVE SUMMER UNIFORMS

Members of the Bower City band will blossom forth in white shirts, trousers and caps when the first concert of 1921 is played as a result of purchases made by the Chamber of Commerce. Sartell and David Drummond sent there as representatives of the band. The trip was made by auto, they returning at 5 a. m. Saturday.

Decision to buy summer uniforms was reached at a booster meeting of the band Thursday night when it was also voted to accept the Chamber of Commerce idea and create a Community Music committee. The three members of the band will be Sartell, Drummond and Charles Gibson. Three will be chosen from the Chamber with the seventh member elected by the committee. They will arrange for concerts and music for all civic affairs.

New music has been ordered together with new racks. The band seeks a wider representation of instruments and wishes to hear from those who would consider joining.

CHAPTER LXIX
INVITATIONS
Other letters from Myra followed. Suddenly she seemed either to have developed a sudden love for her former chum, or suddenly to have a great deal of leisure on her hands. And gradually the letters ceased to make Ruth feel badly. After a time, they even began to pore her a little. Myra never said anything that was interesting to read.

"Gaby's in a new show, she has a grand party," was one piece of news. She sings three songs alone and wears the loveliest clothes. I made Tim take me to see her and went behind the scenes afterwards. It was really exciting. I made Gaby been back for so long. She's not the star, she's third in the company and getting, she says, $250 a week. And my, her clothes! I mean her real ones. She spends every cent on clothes. A few weeks later another letter came.

"I saw Emily the other day—that was the first time in a year. She came up to see me. She says she's going to marry Johnny Trumbull in the spring. He's got a million so I'm related to some one rich, even if I am poor. So she's been spending all the money she had living up to her future, she says. She's got thousands of dollars worth of things and she's got a dandy car. She says she has to do it because Trumbull has so many wealthy friends and she doesn't want any of them to think he is marrying poor woman. My, I always thought she was pretty rich, but she doesn't think so."

So over the books at the office, Riley says it may amount to more. "I'm afraid you'll be in a sanitarium next." Ruth laughed. "Anyhow, it's a busy life," she decided. "Myra says there's no chance in a small town, that all the fun and opportunity is in the big city."

"Surely you don't agree?" "They're a big chance for me here. But I had to make it. Only there's no chance here for real fun, there's no music, no theaters, no cultured people. Look at the club members. They're all empty headed, but so are most of those in the big city. It's a matter of choosing. There are people living here—"

"The gentry," as Riley calls them. But what would they want to do with me, when they can go to the city for their friends as well as their clothes and their pleasures?" "I'll agree most are empty headed, but so are most of those in the big city. It's a matter of choosing. There are people living here—"

"I met him at one of our Civic Meetings. He's interested in the factory town, owns land near the new development."

"Well, you'll meet his family now. You'll need a new dress—better go to Tipper's and get one—a blue taffeta. I think you could use it for other things later."

Ruth thought of the clothes little thing.

Mr. Tripper chose for the young ladies of her tiny town. She thought of the lovely dresses Myra had worn in the city—she needed that sort of costume. She shook her head. Then she went to her room and politely declined the invitation.

"Have a gown made, or send away and get one," Langley urged. "It would cost a hundred dollars, the sort of things those women wear. I can't take the money, I must try to send farther away."

And in spite of this refusal, other invitations came to her from the influential families who lived near Mrs. Ketown, but who, so far, had held aloof from it socially.

But Ruth declined them all. She hated to do it, but she felt she could not afford to accept them.

ENDOWMENT FUND OF MILTON COLLEGE INCREASED BY $4,000
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Milton.—Endowments of Milton college within the past year have been increased by about $4,000 and now total $238,000. It has been announced. One half of the increase came from Mrs. Julia A. Saunders and the other from the Rev. L. C. Randolph. The indebtedness of the college was reduced $1450 during the year. Offerings taken by the Seventh Day Baptist association of the Northwest netted $3,384 for support of the college. Three needs are most pressing for the college, a productive endowment of at least $300,000, a suitable housing of the school of music and a dormitory for men, it was announced.

Even if you have a machine—come in anyway. You will want to know about this latest of all machines, which saves up to an hour of the time required by others to do a washing.

The sturdy, all-metal construction assures years longer service. The revolving, reversing cylinder method of washing is the safe, thorough way. In fact, it is the thing which has convinced 600,000 users that the Thor has no equal. See the Ball Bearing Swinging Wringer—made entirely of metal so it cannot warp or twist.
